The giant young Metropolis of North-Eastern Oklahoma offers all Kentuckians the richest opportunities. BARTLESVILLE, a dot on the map ten years ago had, in 1907, a population of 4,215. If you are a manufacturer, get into a city where your efforts at town-building and your enterprise and public spirit will be appreciated and backed up—where a free site will be given you and you will have no investment for land; where your fuel or power will cost half what it is costing you now, and where insurance rate and taxes will be lighter. If your raw material is high-priced, or a mean competition is too hard, or your business too big for its present location, go to Bartlesville. Make a trip out there and investigate the labor supply and all other conditions of business.

If you are a farmer, go and get this good land while it is cheap. It will yield you a large income while you farm it, and when ready to sell it, you can get $100 an acre for the land that cost you one-fourth or one-half that.

If you are a builder, go and erect the dwellings and business blocks needed for the rapidly-increasing population. Rents pay 20 to 40 per cent. on the buildings and you get the increase in the value of the real estate also.

Miss Mattie Owens

Died at the home of her brother, J. A. Owens, in this city, at an early hour last Sunday morning. Miss Mattie Owens, after a lingering illness with that fatal disease tuberculosis.

In the death of Miss Owens, our city has lost a true and noble young woman, the Christian character of which she was a devoted member, a faithful and earnest worker and a family a loving and kind sister.

Although for years she had been a cripple and compelled to use a crutch, she was always cheerful and happy, and made her friends feel the gladness of her presence.

Her resting nature led her to hide her best qualities from public gaze, but they were revealed to those who enjoyed her acquaintance.

The funeral service was conducted at the residence Monday afternoon by her pastor, Rev. L. E. Reid, in the presence of a large concourse of sorrowing friends, after which the remains were interred in our beautiful cemetery.

And now she sleeps where the flowers nod,

Where the wild birds come and the wild bees hum,

Above her lonely bed.

She fought the fight, she kept the faith,

Her name shines bright and clear;

And her memory lives in all our hearts,

Which will hold it ever dear.
